

2015 Estate Cabernet Franc

Seven Hills Vineyard · Walla Walla Valley

91+ points, Robert Parker, www.RobertParker.com,

“The 2015 Cabernet Franc Estate Seven Hills Vineyard offers up notions of cedar, dried herbs, subtle black pepper and dark wild berries. On the palate, it's medium-bodied, layered and velvety, with an impressively textured and vibrant mid-palate, concluding with some youthfully chewy but fine-grained tannins. This is one of the successes of the range and a contender for a higher score with some time in bottle.” – William Kelley

“The 2015 Cabernet Franc Estate Seven Hills Vineyard (100% Cabernet Franc) is terrific and has classic, high-quality Cabernet Franc character. Black cherries, black raspberries, leafy herbs, spring flowers, and a hint of graphite all flow to a medium to full-bodied, balanced, elegant 2015 that has fine tannin, beautiful purity of fruit and a great finish. This character-filled effort will keep for 8-10 years.” – Jeb Dunnuck

*“A richer style of red that shows lots of fruit and juicy character. Full and flavorful. Hints of new wood. Chewy texture. Drink or hold.”

“Deep ruby colored, this possesses rich, smoky aromas of blackberry, cherry plum, crushed roses, pipe tobacco, cedar, rosemary, sage and incense. The flavors mirror the aromatics with generous, yet focused, red and black fruits that are intermixed with licorice, chocolate, French roast and Seven Hills silty minerals. The saturation continues on the back with macerated berries, roasted nuts and graphite, followed by a satisfying herb dusted ripe tannin finish.” – Rand Sealey
